

Who does not exalt himself will be exalted by others." Meir. Talmud: Moed Katan, 28b.

With great admiration, I join the congregation in paying tribute to our outstanding honorees, Sabrina and Jahn Levin and Judy Mittleman Freund.

Sabrina and Jahn- It has been wonderful getting to know you through my work in the Religious School. You are exceptional parents, as evidenced by how special Sarabeth is, and I truly appreciate your involvement in the Religious School. I was thrilled to hear that you were selected as this year's Gala honorees.

Judy- Having worked so closely with you in your capacity as the Preschool Committee Chair during the past two years has been a joy and a blessing. Your tenacity, positivity and ability (and desire!) to constantly juggle the needs of your children with the needs of our OWHC children are no less than inspirational. I cannot imagine a more deserving recipient of this year's, or any year's, Humanitarian Award.

Sabrina, Jahn and Judy- Your dedication, vision and unwavering commitment to OWHC and to our children have enriched our lives and the life of our beloved synagogue and ensured that we will have a vibrant spiritual home for many years to come.

Yasher Koach and Mazal Tov on receiving this richly deserved honor!! May you go from strength to strength and may we continue to be blessed by your creativity, passion and devotion to OWHC and to Judaism.

With affection,

Mindy R. Kremer
